

Small Business Interruption Loan Service (SBILS) Cookie Policy

We use cookies on the sbils.co.uk website.

We will send cookies to you (which may be stored by your browser on your computer's hard drive) for the following purposes:

- For identification, cookies allow us to identify you while you are logged in.
- To record third party websites product purchases and or applications; and specifically, we use cookies on Sbils.co.uk for use with Google and their related conversion tools and tracking analytics. The visitor information generated creates reports on the use of Sbils.co.uk website. Google stores this information, although many of the cookies they use are deleted when you close your browser.

Do I have to accept cookies?

Most browsers will automatically accept cookies unless you amend the browser settings. By updating your browser settings, you can prevent cookies from being stored on your device.

Some browsers can be set so that cookies are always deleted after a visit. You may also have the option of 'Private' or 'Incognito' browsing.

Instructions for changing your cookie settings will generally be found in the 'Help' section of your browser.

You can delete cookies already on your computer or device at any time.

You may choose not to accept cookies at all. In this instance, when cookies are disabled, our website may not behave or display as it would if cookies were enabled. This remains your choice and preference.

If you have any questions regarding our 'Cookie Policy' and what it means to you please feel free to contact us at support@sbils.co.uk
